Farmers, Read This.

We have been informed that it has been circulated over the county that we are not in the trade for Corn, Wheat, Rye, Oats, etc. We desire to contradict this report and say to our friends that we are in the market for ALL KINDS OF GRAIN and pay market value for same. We also wish to state in this connection that we will be in the market for New Wheat and, as heretofore, pay the highest market price. Please remember, also, we keep all kind of field seed, such as Clover, Timothy, Orchard Grass, Blue Grass, Cow Peas, Millet and Hungarian seed, etc. H. A. B. Marksbury & Son.

Local Notes.

Our friends, the advertisers, take up most of our space this week. We are sorry to say this very seldom happens.

Sunday Services at Hubble.

Eld F M Tindler will preach at Hubble next Sunday night at 8 o'clock. Instead of in the afternoon. This change is only for that day.

There was not a corporal's guard in town Monday, and it was the poorest court day in years. The farmers were busy with their wheel.

Rain has caused much trouble with the wheat harvest and it is feared some will be lost. The farmers have been taking advantage of every opportunity to cut.

Our usual summer union services open next Sunday evening at the Baptist church. Notice will be given Sunday morning as to who will preach the introductory sermon.

I James, familiarly known to every man, in Kentucky as "Bud" was here Monday mingling with his many Garrard county friends. He will bring a string of fine horses to the Lancaster fair, and here's hoping he will get the blue tie in every ring he enters.

Doctors' Medical Society.

The June meeting of the Garrard County Medical Society was held in Dr Kinnaird's office last Thursday evening. Dr A J McNeese read a paper on "Phyctic Influence as a Therapeutic Agent," which was very interesting and scientific.

Fair Catalogue.

All the copy for Lancaster Fair catalogue was not given to this office until first of this week. Those who know anything about printing will realize how we will have to rush to get it out. It is a big job, and requires much time, but we will be Johnny Onthespot and deliver the goods this week.

Every prominent horse man in this section of the state has written for premium lists and stated that he will attend the Lancaster fair and bring his best string of horses. Those who ought to know predict the best show of stock ever given in Central Kentucky. Remember the dates, July 13, 14 and 15, and come.

Well-Known in Garrard.

Stanford Journal:—Mrs Sallie A Norris, mother of Mrs H D Aldridge, died at her home on East Main street yesterday of complication of troubles, aged about 70. The burial will occur at 3 o'clock this afternoon. Mrs Norris was a splendid old lady and her death will cause sadness wherever she was known.

Decoration Services Sunday.

The Lancaster Odd Fellows will hold decoration services next Sunday afternoon. The brothers will assemble at the hall at 2 o'clock, sharp. At 3 o'clock Bro F M Tindler will deliver a discourse at the Christian church, after which the lodge will proceed to the Cemetery and place floral designs upon the graves of departed members. The public is cordially invited to attend.

Colored Fair in Lancaster.

The leading colored people of Garrard and Lincoln counties have joined together and will hold a three days fair in Lancaster Aug. 24, 25 and 26. The promoters have held similar exhibitions during the past three years, and each has proven quite successful. William Jones, of Lincoln county, is president and W H Harris, of Garrard is secretary. The fair will be held in Moss' woods on Lexington street and liberal premiums offered. Catalogues will be printed in a few days.

Mr. Chumbley Resigns

Rev. C. M. Chumbley tendered his resignation as pastor of the Lancaster Presbyterian church some weeks ago, but it did not go into effect until last Sunday when he preached his final sermon. Mr. Chumbley has had charge of the Lancaster church for several years, and has made many warm friends who dislike very much to see him leave. He is a splendid preacher and a man of exceptionally fine intellect. He has several offers, but has not yet decided upon a location. His wife and children left for his home in Virginia last Friday, and Mr Chumbley will join them there in a few days.

The Kentucky Editors.

At a meeting of executive committee of the Kentucky Press Association, held at Seelbach's in Louisville last Saturday, it was decided to abandon the usual summer junket and spend an entire week at some prominent watering place. A representative from Grayson Springs was present and made the boys many flattering offers to come there, but Hon. Clarence E Woods extended an invitation from Mr Willis, of Crab Orchard Springs and this lovely resort was chosen. The date is July 24, and the editors will have a business session each morning, the afternoons being devoted to amusement and recreation. Over one hundred of the best-known newspaper men in the state will attend the meeting, and will be accompanied by their wives, sisters or sweethearts, as the case may be, a profitable and royal good time will be enjoyed.

Coming Home This Summer?

If so, have your vacation arranged that you can be in good old Lancaster during the fair. Everybody in Garrard and adjoining counties will be here at that time, and you will have the pleasure of meeting your old friends and at the same time witnessing one of the best county fairs ever held in the state.

The Right Man.

As mayor and city councilmen must be elected this Fall, it is about time the good people were deciding upon the men. As to the latter, we have many numbers of citizens who will make fine councilmen, but in selecting a mayor, we must be more careful and get a man who we know will always be for improvement, the upbuilding of the town and never block what three-fourths of the people want. We know of no man who will fill the bill any more satisfactorily than will Mr Ed Bishop, and we have heard many similar expressions from citizens who are for push and hustle. Ed Bishop is a man of fine sense, as honest as the day is long and absolutely nothing can swerve him from doing what he believes is for the best. Our late mayor, Robert Kinnaird, was undoubtedly the best one any town ever had. He was up to date and the howl of the moss back had not the slightest weight with him. Ed Bishop is just such a man, and the kind Lancaster needs to pull her out of the sleepy rut into which she has drifted. We want no old fogey or know it all mossbacks who are against every proposition brought up for the advancement of Lancaster, but select a wide awake progressive young man like Ed Bishop and the people will never regret the action.

RESOLUTIONS.
Lancaster Lodge, 104, F. & A. M.
The undersigned committee begs leave to offer the following resolutions: Whereas, it has pleased the Grand Master of the Universe to call from us our beloved brother, Robert Kinnaird, who has so faithfully served as secretary of this Lodge for so many years, be it
Resolved, That in his death Lancaster Lodge has lost one of its most faithful, efficient and beloved members, and the fraternity at large, one who was ever faithful to his vows and an ornament to the Craft.
Resolved, That the Lodge extend its deepest sympathy to the bereaved family; that these resolutions be spread upon the minute book, a copy given to the family and printed in the Central Record.

W O Elmer
Louis Landram, Committee.
June 23, 1905.
Lancaster, Ky., June 23, 1905.
The committee on resolution reported the following, which were unanimously adopted:
Whereas, It has been the will of the Supreme Architect of the Universe to take from us our beloved Companion, Robert Kinnaird, be it
Resolved, That in his death, Lancaster Chapter No 56 has lost one of its brightest and most beloved Companions, one who lived up to the teachings of every point in the hidden mysteries of Masonry, and one who was ever ready and willing to help, aid and assist all poor, distressed Masons, to the very limit of his means.
Resolved, That we will ever cherish his memory, his lovely disposition and kindness of heart having won an affection from the members of this Chapter, which will never die.
Resolved, That these resolutions be spread upon the minute book of this Chapter, a copy sent to his family and be printed in The Central Record.
W O Rigney,
Louis Landram, Com'tee.

Some one has said that "scandal is what you tell to every one before breathing a word of it to the person who it is about." And it might be added, says the Ohio Penitentiary News, that the gossip is the person who does the telling. Scandal and gossip are two things for which His Sanctified Majesty should be thankful. They promote more hell on earth than all the infidel and agnostics combined, more than all the saloons and rum shops in the land; and they are as liable to be found kneeling at the church altar as anywhere else. A good many people cultivate a habit of talking just to be entertaining, and a shallow brain and a willing tongue are gifts that should be spared.
Huge Task.
It was a huge task to undertake the cure of such a bad case of kidney disease as that of C F Collier, of Cherokee, Ia., but Electric Bitters did it. He writes: "My kidneys were so far gone I could not sit on a chair without a cushion; and suffered from dreadful backache, headache and depression. In Electric Bitters, however, I found a cure, and by them was restored to perfect health. I recommend this great tonic medicine to all with weak kidneys, liver or stomach. Guaranteed by R E McRoberts, druggist; price 50c. 1m
GERMAN WAR ON PHTHISIS
Rules for the Guidance of the Victims of Tuberculosis Sent to State Department.
Consular Clerk Murphy, of Frankfurt, sends to the state department the "measures for preventing the spread of consumption" recommended by the city authorities. Every consumptive and every person who coughs should take care that it is received in spittoons or similar vessels containing water or, still better, chloride of lime or salt water. Such liquids prevent freezing and also the drinking of the water by animals. These cups should be two inches high and eight to ten inches in diameter. They should have smooth, slightly curved edges and should be made of smooth glass, porcelain, china or enameled iron. They should contain water to a depth of four-fifths of an inch. As the water evaporates more should be added. The spittoons should be cleaned daily with boiling water. Consumptives should give special attention to cleanliness. The sitting rooms and bedrooms of consumptives should have only such curtains, bed coverings and the like as can be easily washed. There should be no carpets. The entire floors of such rooms should be washed daily, and even in winter the rooms should be properly aired daily for at least one hour. Uncooked milk may become a transmitter of consumption. The public is warned against its use.
No Secret About It.
It is no secret that for Cuts, Burns, Ulcers, Fever Sores, Sore Eyes, Boils, etc., nothing is so effective as Bucken's Arnica Salve. "It didn't take long to cure a bad sore I had, and it is all O. K. for sore eyes," writes D. L. Gregory, of Hope, Tex. 25c at McRoberts' drug store. 1m

FARM AND GARDEN

LACING A LEATHER BELT.

Every Farmer Who Owns Machinery Should Know How to Do This Work Expeditiously.

Style 1 is lacing used on leather belts where heavy load is applied and where the belt does not run under idler or turn sharp angles.

Styles 2 and 3 are a hinge stitch for light belts where the belts run under idlers or turn short curves, as in a hinge stitch the belt can be doubled back and forth each way and it will not wear, when if sewed as in Style 1 it would wear out in a short time.

Styles 4, 5, 6 and 7 are used on heavy belts where a heavy strain is put on them and especially when belts become cold and hard to get lacing to hold.

This style of lacing will hold as well as the other part of the belt will.

Style 8 is a double hinge stitch and should be used where a heavy strain is placed on the belt and in turning short curves or in running under small idlers.

The main drive belts used on separators sewed in this way will often last two seasons without relacing the belt. Where these stitches are not familiar to the operator he can easily grasp the idea by threading a needle and using the cut as a model and drawing lines on the cut with the thread. When he gets the idea it will be no trouble for him to sew a belt, always commencing in the center of the belt when sewing and ending in the center. If he has a Rogers punch, by simply pushing it through the leather it will form a half circle to push the lace through and then cut a little notch in the lace and it will catch on this half circle and cannot be pulled out. It will not be necessary to tie the lace in any way. In lacing very often the end of the lace is soft and it is hard to thread through the holes, but if you will simply wet the end of the lacing or oil it, then light a match and crisp the end of the lacing it will form a hard point which will save time and annoyance.

Every thrasher who does not understand this style of lacing should take a couple of cards and punch holes as indicated by the cut and sew the cards with a shoe string for lacing, as these make good lacing for practice and are easier than tracing with a thread.—Thresher World.

The First Plowing in India.

The commencement of the farming season in India is celebrated with ceremonies. The first furrow in the village is plowed by a committee of farmers from the neighborhood. The plow is first worshipped and decorated. The bullock or camel which draws it is covered with garlands of flowers; bright-colored pieces of cloth and rosettes of ribbon are braided into its tail and hung upon its horns. Behind the plow follows "the sower," who is also decorated with flowers and ornaments, has a red mark upon his forehead and his eyelids colored with lamp-black. He drops seed into the furrow. Behind him come a second man, who carefully picks up every grain that has fallen outside of the furrow. When the furrow is finished the farmers assemble at some house in the neighborhood and have a dinner. There are similar ceremonies connected with the harvest.

Some Things That Are Not.

Cayenne pepper doesn't come from a pepper plant, nor Burgundy pitch from Burgundy. Jerusalem artichokes do not come from Jerusalem, nor turkeys from Turkey. Camel's hair brushes are made from the tail of the squirrel. German silver is not silver, and it was invented in China. Cork legs are not made of cork; neither do they come from Cork, Ireland. Prussian blue does not come from Prussia. Irish stew is not an Irish, but an English dish. Cleopatra's Needle was set up 1,000 years before that lady was born. Chamois leather is not the hide of a chamois, but the flesh side of sheepskins.—Boston Herald.

Yale's Fine Indian Relics.

The Peabody museum of Yale university has recently received a collection of Indian relics from Christopher Wren, of Plymouth, Pa. The collection includes Indian pipes, scrapers, and other utensils. Prof. Schubert, the new head of the museum, is planning an extensive relabeling and reclassification of the objects in the museum by which, for one thing, the vertebrate fossils will be grouped together, and, as far as possible, arranged topographically.

Absolutely Prevents BLOOD POISONING.

There is a new product manufactured
in Louisville, Ky., known as Paracamp, First Aid to the Injured, which has proven an absolute preventive of blood poisoning, if applied immediately after receiving any kind of wound. Para-camp is a combination of rare cooling, soothing, balmy oils and camphor, and owing to its remarkable quick relieving and healing powers is highly endorsed by the medical profession, hospitals and by all public institutions where a great many people are employed. Paracamp contains neither opium, morphine nor cocaine. Hence it is a safe, clean, pure remedy which should be kept in every household to be used in case of emergencies. Mothers will find it far superior to witch hazel, arnica, vaseline, old salves or liniments, because when applied it goes straight to the interior cells, soothing the aches and pains, nourishing the nerves, oiling the muscles, drawing out the fever and inflammation by inducing perspiration. It is the most perfect external application that has been offered to the public, and the discoverer is to be congratulated for bestowing upon the American people such a useful and meritorious product. We learn from many sources that Paracamp is unequalled for the cure of Neuralgia, Rheumatic Swellings and Inflammations. The manufacturers guarantee every bottle to give satisfaction—so no chances are taken by trying Para-camp. It is sold only in 25c, 50c and $1.00 bottles by all good druggists or sent direct upon receipt of price. Manufactured only by The Paracamp Company, of Louisville, Ky., a $300,000 corporation.

THE FOOL HAS SAID.

Psalm XIV.
The dusky deep is set with gems
That glimmer with a fadeless light,
With huge and wondrous diadems
That blaze upon the startled sight
And glorify the holy night.
And yet the doubters gravely nod
And scoff at all the signs of night—
The fool hath said there is no God.

The sea is emerald and wide
And moves with slow and solemn sweep;
Resistless is the restless tide
That comes from out the hidden deep,
The waves in fury lash and leap,
And still the critics mope and piod
Along the shore and blindly creep—
The fool hath said there is no God.

The prairies reach in endless green,
As level as a threshold floor;
No shade to mar the brilliant scene,
With wilding blooms bespangled o'er
And birds that warble as they soar,
And down above the dewy sod,
And still the pessimist once more—
The fool hath said there is no God.

The day, the night, the dawn, the dusk,
The dream, the hope and hearts that yearn,
The bud, the bloom, the withered husk,
The rose that falls, the leaves that turn,
And skies that pale and skies that burn,
And man himself, is he a clod?
Nay, such beliefs all men should spurn—
The fool hath said there is no God.
—Chicago Daily Chronicle.

HIS MOTHER'S PRAYERS.

How They Saved One Man from a Suicide's Grave and Made Him a Preacher.

O, the saving power of a mother's prayers! It cannot be estimated. Children may grow up apparently indifferent to their home-training; they may even become vile and profligate; but the memory of the family altar, the father's Bible and the mother's prayers will cling to them. These thoughts should encourage Christian parents to live consistently in the presence of their children, and to persist in maintaining the family altar.

Dr. J. Wilbur Chapman relates the following incident, which is in point right here:

"One of my dearest friends was a profligate until he was a man grown.
In a great western city he had determined to take his life, throw himself down on his bed just to collect himself before the awful deed, and jarred a little book off from a shelf just above his bed, and it struck him in the face. With an oath, he threw it from him, and then it dawned upon him that it was his mother's Bible, given him to read. He walked across the room to pick it up, just to show her some mark of respect, and read upon the flyleaf, written in her own hand: 'Dear boy, you can never get away from your mother's prayers.'
Instead of becoming a self-murderer, he became one of the country's greatest preachers.

"O, for a revival of the old custom of having a family altar in the home, where the father acts as priest, and the mother as a saint; we could stir the whole country for Christ. I wish that we might dig again the well that our fathers digged before us, and make homes heaven."—Religious Telescope.

Not Changed a Bit.

"Halloa, Bill, old man! Well, well!
I haven't seen you since the old days when we used to run around together."
"No, Jack. Ah, those old days! What a fool I used to be then!"
"I tell you, I'm glad to see you. You haven't changed a bit, old man."—Tit-Bits.

Wanted to Be.

"Yes," said the young student, thoughtfully, "when I get interested in a subject I never stop until I have embraced it thoroughly."
"That's nice," was the hesitating reply. "Do—do you think I'm an interesting subject?"—Tit-Bits
